As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry

As many of you have probably noticed, it's been a slower winter, and the real estate market has reflected that. The good news is that our team has continued to achieve outstanding results with a clearance rate of over 80% and some fantastic results for our vendors. With spring just around the corner we're now looking for more homes to bring to the market.

If you're thinking of moving or selling your investment property, we would strongly suggest to get on the property market pre-spring so there is less competition and a better result for you.

With ongoing uncertainty in the wider economy, it's likely house prices will remain relatively stable for the time being. Remember, you usually buy and sell on the same market so the difference is similar. Today's market offers buyers a greater selection of homes giving you more choice when it comes to finding your next property.

SALES STATISTICS

Hamilton median house prices have been steady in the mid $700,000 range in the past few years after the highs seen during post covid sales through to June 2022.
This can also be contributed to sales of entry level homes to first home buyers and investors coming back to the market. The number of sales for June 2026 is 252 compared to 218 for June 2025. An increase of 15.6% in the number of homes sold.

SMALL CHANGES - BIG FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Spring is the perfect time to give your home a little extra love before it goes on the market and it doesn't have to mean expensive renovations. Often, it's the simple details that create the biggest impact. Here are some quick outlines of what to look for with further details on our blog section on our website:

- Boost your street appeal with a welcoming entrance
- Give the exterior a refresh with a house wash
- Let the light shine in - open curtains and blinds
- Declutter every room - clear benches and vanities
- Hide the everyday items like toiletries
- Create a fresh atmosphere by opening windows
- Make every bedroom feel inviting with freshly made beds
- Add a touch of freshness of fresh flowers or fruit bowl
- Replace tired light bulbs
- Fix the small things - Squeaky doors and loose handles
- Remember the pets - Put away pet beds, and accessories

The Golden Rule - Buyers should be imagining their life in your home, not being reminded of yours.

If you'd like personalised advice on preparing your home for sale, we would be delighted to visit and offer some simple, cost-effective suggestions that can help maximise your home's appeal.

AUCTION v DEADLINE SALE

We've noticed that in general, auctions have reduced over the past few months with deadline sale becoming more popular choice. This is largely because more purchasers are making conditional offers, often subject to finance approval. Deadline sales can provide greater flexibility for buyers who need to include conditions in their offers.

We continue to achieve good results with both auction and deadline sale campaigns and are always happy to discuss the best strategy to maximise your property's outcome. Every property is different and choosing the right method of sale depends on your property. We're always happy to discuss the benefits of each method to help determine the best approach for your home in the current market and achieve the best result for you.

Kind regards

Terry
